

Charge Against Truman Stirs New Political Storm

Washington, (AP)—A sensational charge by Atty. Gen. Brownell that former President Truman promoted a known Soviet spy to high office exploded a great new controversy last night with Truman and the Eisenhower regime virtually accusing each other of lying.

The din of charges and counter charges resounded with as yet unfathomable portents for next year's vital congressional elections.

But one thing appeared clear: the Eisenhower administration, which swept to power on accusations of "the mess" in Washington, has decided to open up with both barrels on the Communists-in-government issue.

Yesterday's row opened with a flat statement by Brownell in a Chicago speech that the late

Harry Dexter White, former assistant secretary of the Treasury, was a spy for Russia.

Brownell declared the FBI collected the evidence of White's spying and submitted a report on it to Truman through his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, in December, 1945.

"In the face of this information, and incredible though it may seem," Brownell said, "President Truman on Jan. 23, 1946, nominated White . . . for the even more important position of executive director for the United States in the International Monetary Fund."

Brownell added that the FBI sent a second report to Vaughan on White on Feb. 4, 1946.

The White House said Truman signed White's commission of appointment on Feb. 7, 1946—three days after the second FBI warning was delivered to Gen. Vaughan.

Truman quickly denounced Brownell's charges as "political." He said that "as soon as we found out White was wrong we fired him." Asserting that the Eisenhower administration was "desperate" because of Republican losses in Tuesday's elections, the ex-President said "they'll stop at nothing, lies or anything else."

This brought a swift retort from the White House that Truman's statement about firing White was "not true."

"Mr. White was not fired," said Presidential Secretary James C. Hagerty. "He resigned."

Truman's reply to this was that sometimes a man is fired by being permitted to resign—that this was the case with White, and that the practice is still followed in Washington.

Hagerty then quoted from a letter Truman wrote to White on April 7, 1947, in which Truman said he was accepting White's resignation from the monetary fund post with sincere regret and considerable reluctance.

In the letter, Truman also told White:

"You have filled with distinction your present assignment . . . and your unflinching efforts have been a source of great pride to us."

At the White House, a reporter remarked to Hagerty that sometimes resignations are mere formalities after a man has been fired privately.

Asked whether that may have been the situation in White's case, Hagerty replied:

"I am only giving you the facts."

Chicago (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell accused former President Truman yesterday of appointing the late Harry Dexter White to a high government post despite an FBI report that White was a Communist spy.

Truman promptly denied getting the report prior to the appointment.

The charge drew quick reaction from Truman, the White House, Henry Morgenthau Jr., former secretary of the Treasury; Brig. Gen. Harry Vaughan, Truman's military aide, and others. White is dead.

One—Truman said "as soon as we found out White was wrong we fired him" and that Brownell's charges were "political" because the Eisenhower administration is "scared" and "desperate" after failing in Tuesday's elections.

Two—The White House countered that Truman's statement that White was fired was "not true" and that White had resigned. Press Secretary James Hagerty said he would produce "the facts" about the case. He read a letter from Truman dated April 7, 1947, nearly 18 months after the alleged first FBI report on White's activities was made and given for delivery to Truman. In the letter Truman accepted White's resignation as director of the International Monetary Fund.

In Kansas City, Truman countered that "people are sometimes fired by being allowed to resign" which he said was true of White's case and is a practice still followed in Washington.

Three—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee said it has subpoenaed Brig. Gen. Harry Vaughan to appear before the group Nov. 12 for closed-door questioning about the report Brownell said Vaughan was given to deliver to Truman.

Four—The Republican Congressional Campaign Committee said Brownell's statement "further vindicated" the position of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Five—Morgenthau, White's onetime chief, said he had had no "information to make me suspicious of White."

Six—In Washington, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's office said there would be no comment on Brownell's speech.

White, an economist and monetary expert, had held a number of high government positions from the time he entered the Roosevelt administration until he left it in 1947. He died in August, 1948.

This "incredible" action by the Truman administration, during which the "Communists were so strikingly successful," Brownell said, left the Eisenhower regime a "very difficult task" of weeding out subversive elements from the federal payroll.

Brownell said the FBI report on White was given to Brig. Gen. Vaughan for delivery to the President in December 1945 and February 1946.

U. S. Infantrymen Halt Rioting In Seething Trieste

Trieste (AP)—A display of U. S. infantry with bayonets at the ready stilled the violence at least temporarily in Trieste's blood-spattered waterfront square last night. Six persons had been killed by Trieste police in three days of riotous demonstrations.

Diplomatic moves followed quickly overnight in efforts to stop bloodshed and settle the Trieste conflict between Italy and Yugoslavia.

Few 19-Year Draftees To Be Called

Washington (AP)—The Army yesterday issued a January draft call for 23,000 men.

An Associated Press survey showed that most states won't draft men under 19 as long as calls remain at that level.

Defense Department officials had been considering raising the calls to about 37,000 a month starting in January as part of a long range leveling-off program. Selective Service officials said this would have caused many states to dip down near the minimum draft age of 18½ in a few months.

The survey of selective service directors also showed that only about a dozen men under 19, other than volunteers, have been drafted since conscription was resumed about a month after the Korean War started in June, 1950.

The directors for at least 13 states, New York City and the District of Columbia said they've had to take few, if any, men under 20 in recent months. Alabama and Kentucky directors haven't had to draft men under 20 since World War II.

Fishing Ship In Distress

Cape May, N. J. (AP)—The Coast Guard said last night the 90-foot fishing vessel, the Helen M., is in distress 26 miles southeast of Barnegat Light Ship, in "very heavy seas" with seven persons aboard.

The Coast Guard said a rescue vessel — the cutter Gentian — had been dispatched to the scene.

The fishing boat's stories were reported washed away and the pumps inoperative with the boat shipping water.

The Coast Guard said the cutter Gentian probably wouldn't reach the disabled boat until 5 a.m.

Elderly Missing Hunters Found

Coudersport, (AP)—Two elderly Coudersport men missing on a hunting trip were found alive and well in a wooded area near here yesterday after an all-night search.

"We weren't lost, we were just stuck," the two physically-handicapped men told their rescuers.

Earl Crandall, 62, who is paralyzed from the waist down, and Edwin Scott, 83, who has only one arm, were found in Crandall's automobile stuck fast in mud along an abandoned railroad bed.

Interviews May End Unless Red Tactics Change

Panmunjom (AP)—India's chairman of the Repatriation Commission declared yesterday prolonged Communist interviews with war prisoners were useless and "inhuman" and may come to a sudden halt Monday unless Red tactics change.

"I am reluctant to order my guards to use the force required to hold these wretched men in front of the explainers," Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya told a news conference at which Communist correspondents also were present.

"It is unhuman. I can't stand any longer to go in the explanation tents and look at it myself. As long as India is responsible I cannot permit this to grow."

Court Finds Two Guilty In Absentia

Novara, Italy, (AP)—Two wartime American agents were convicted by the Novara court yesterday of the cloak-and-dagger murder of their commanding officer. They were sentenced to prison terms they cannot be forced to serve.

Two judges and a six-man jury acquitted three Italians charged with participating in the slaying of the officer, Maj. William Holohan of New York City, Holohan, chief of an Office of Strategic Services (OSS) mission, was shot dead behind enemy lines in northern Italy in 1944.

Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh, pictured by a string of witnesses during the three-week trial as a behind-the-scenes playboy principally interested in lining his pockets with gold, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Carl Lo Dolce of Rochester, N. Y., who witnesses said actually fired the fatal shots on Icardi's orders, received a sentence of 17 years.

Icardi, a former lieutenant and Holohan's deputy, and Lo Dolce, an ex-sergeant, were tried in absentia. They will never see the Robert Packer Hospital without regaining consciousness.

Walter Charges Reds Trying To Repeal Immigration Act

Congressman Francis E. Walter (D-Easton) said yesterday that Communists, Communist sympathizers and Communist frontiers have again succeeded in a technique at which they are past masters, this time in organizing a group of prominent names to spearhead and endorse a drive to repeal the McCarran-Walter Act.

"I was thoroughly shocked," Mr. Walter said, "when I was handed an article from the N. Y. Daily Worker of Oct. 16 announcing a parody to be held Dec. 12 at Walsh's Hall in Chicago and listing the names of 99 prominent persons who are to sponsor this so-called national conference to repeal the McCarran-Walter Act under the auspices of the American Committee for the Protection of Foreign Born."

Mr. Walter stated that this organization has been cited by the attorney general, and by the Committee on Un-American Activities as one of the oldest auxiliaries of the Communist party.

This list, he added, included 20 clergymen and 23 professors side by side with such persons as Albert Maltz, one of the original Hollywood "fives" who served time in contempt of Congress, and Hugo Gellert, art teacher at the Jefferson School of Social Science, an organization cited by the at-

Ike Revamps Policy On Secret Data

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower revamped the government's policy on secret data yesterday with an order asserting the public's right to "a maximum amount of information in keeping with security."

Repealing a controversial set of regulations former President Truman issued two years ago, the new order goes into effect Dec. 15.

It strips 28 federal agencies of authority to "classify" information that is withheld from the public on security grounds. It limits this power to the chief administrative officers alone in 17 other agencies.

It throws out the "restricted" category for classifying government data, leaving only "top secret," "secret" and "confidential."

It also provides a system for receiving complaints from newsmen and others outside the government, and sets up machinery for constant review of the whole program.

At the 20th annual convention of the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn. in Chicago, editors from all parts of the country welcomed the changes, but some warned that vigilance will be required to see that the spirit of the executive order is carried out.

The association was one of several editorial groups which demanded a freer flow of information.

Discussing the changes before the association, Atty. Gen. Brownell criticized the old Truman order as "vague," among other things.

"The old order was repressive and applied the military formula to a lot of things entirely outside the scope of national defense," he told reporters earlier.

Snow Lashes East Coast

(By The Associated Press)

Snowstorms, churned by high winds, hit the nation's East Coast and a broad area of the plains yesterday, bringing the first taste of impending winter to both areas after prolonged mild weather.

The disturbances were born of a huge mass of cold air which overspread the country from the Rockies eastward, and from Canada to the Gulf.

Accumulations up to 8 inches were predicted for Kansas, where falling snow was stacked into drifts by the wind. The seaboard snow was expected to reach a maximum of about five inches on the eastern slopes of Pennsylvania's mountains.

Amounts of more than 3½ inches were reported to have fallen in Piedmont areas, but melting kept the snow blanket thin.

Up to seven inches of snow was expected in Philadelphia, and five in Harrisburg and Altoona.

A hundred cars were stalled along highways near Hazleton.

Only those cars equipped with chains were getting through to Easton from Wilkes-Barre on Route 115. State Police barred all cars without chains from some mountain roads.

The cold air brought night-time freezing temperatures into the tier of Gulf states, and chilled all except the southern tip of Florida. Tampa, Fla., reported a cool after-noon temperature of 59, but Miami remained near 80.

In the plains area, the effect most noted and welcomed was a contribution of soil moisture to the bone dry wheat farming lands.

IT TOOK TWO HOURS for some motorists to make from the corner of Seventh and Main Sts., Stroudsburg over Foxtown Hill to the Delaware Water Gap approach. Photo here was taken at about 6 p.m. at the Ann St. bridge. Bus shown in center background was still sitting in that position 20 minutes later. Cause of traffic snarl was centered at the right-angle curve at the base of Foxtown Hill. Resulting tie-up brought traffic to a standstill on all central Stroudsburg streets. (Daily Record Photo)

Weatherman Last To Know About Snow

New York, (AP)—There's a dim suspicion around these parts that Uncle Sam's Weather Bureau wouldn't recognize snow if it got hit in the face with a ball of it.

Back in 1947, New York had a record 25.8 inches of snow. The U. S. Weather Bureau gave the city no warning. Indeed, it pooh-poohed the storm until its meteorologists started disappearing in the drifts.

It started coming down in New York again yesterday. The Weather Bureau appeared the last to hear about it. No advance warning, nothing.

By noon, when you could hardly see your hand before your face, the Bureau conceded the presence of snowflakes, but called them flurries—something sudden and brief. Something that "won't amount to anything."

By mid-evening, three inches of snow had broken all records for this early in the season and it still was coming down. A temperature of 29.5 degrees broke a 73-year-old record for this date.

22 Reluctant U.S. POWs Ask Censorship Of Mail From Home

Panmunjom, Saturday (AP)—The strange spectacle of British and U. S. prisoners demanding and obtaining "censorship" of letters, magazines and newspapers from home was reported yesterday by the chairman of the Repatriation Commission.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, the chairman, told a news conference two Indian officers were held in custody by Allied captives for 4 hours and 15 minutes in the north camp until the commission arrived and heard a long petition against "intimidation" by mail.

The Indians were released when Thimayya promised to screen future mail and to cut off the flow of publications.

The north camp is the compound where 22 Americans, a Briton and 332 South Koreans, who the Reds say have rejected repatriation, are held under Indian custody.

The petition signed by an 11-man committee — one American, the Briton and nine South Koreans — purported to represent the feelings of all the prisoners.

The long, typewritten petition included such charges as:

One—The United Nations is conducting "explanations" in violation of the armistice agreement through the medium of postal and telegraph system.

Two—The U. N. is trying to "intimidate, slander, coerce and bribe" the prisoners.

Three—The Indians are guilty of "a grave error" in allowing such material to pass through their hands and "have not censored this mail."

"This is a shocking use of news media and school children to do their dirty work," the petition said.

A spokesman for the U. N. Command said it "has no knowledge of what has been sent to the prisoners in the north camp through the U. S. Mails . . . nor have we any knowledge of who has sent mail to the prisoners."

The Allied spokesman said the first batch of 279 pieces of mail was delivered Oct. 24 by an American postal officer to the Indians. Since then mail deliveries have been routine.

Prices Decline At Wholesale

Washington (AP)—The Bureau of Labor Statistics said yesterday wholesale prices averaged 1-10 of 1 per cent lower during the week ended Nov. 3.

The bureau's index declined to 109.9 per cent of the 1947-1949 average.

Storm Calls Put Big Load On Exchange

Balked by the storm in their efforts to reach weekend destinations, motorists turned last night to the telephone to let their friends and families know.

That precipitated the battle for telephone lines and a tremendous traffic load through the Bell Telephone exchange here.

Operators were held on duty two, three and four hours overtime to cope with the sudden and wholly unexpected mass of calls.

Long distance calls were delayed from one to two hours.

Switchboard at the Bell exchange was a constant mass of lights which operators wiped out with connections one by one, only to have them to spring back at them again.

Local calls were handled with the amazing dispatch in spite of the sudden emergency.

Mitchell Meets With Experts On Labor Situation

Washington, (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell yesterday called together the Eisenhower administration's top labor experts to study how strikes and threatening strikes may hurt defense production.

Actually there have been relatively few big strikes during the past few months. But despite this general prevalence of industrial peace, strikes are breaking out in the aircraft industry and threatening on the railroads.

Mitchell, the 52-year old former department store labor relations expert who became labor secretary less than a month ago, is showing signs of taking over as the administration's top labor man. In recent years many labor problems have been handled by White House aides or others outside the Labor Department.

Sudden Storm Brings Traffic To Standstill

An estimated four-inch snowfall put the skids under Monroe County traffic last night.

Highway Department workers struggled valiantly to put some traction under motorists' spinning rear wheels, but the traffic kept right on tying itself in knots.

Biggest highway sore spots were Stroudsburg's easily-snarled Foxtown Hill and Saylorburg's stretch of Route 115. Roads in the mountain sections also were reported in slippery condition.

Worst traffic tie-up in recent history occurred between 4:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. yesterday on Foxtown Hill between Stroudsburg and Delaware Water Gap.

At 5:30 p.m. a solid line of buses, trucks and homeward-bound autos stretched from Stroudsburg's Main St. over the top of Foxtown. It took some motorists two hours to travel over Foxtown Hill.

Main center of traffic snarl was the 90-degree curve at the base of the hill.

Most motorists found it nearly impossible to negotiate Foxtown's nine percent grade. A few attempted to turn around on the highway, failed and were caught in diagonal splatters up and down the hill.

The Saylorburg tie-up compounded highway department headaches by preventing passage of cinder trucks, snowplows and other equipment rushed to the scene.

Stroudsburg Methodist Church To Mark 165th Anniversary

Congregation To Dedicate New Addition

The 165th anniversary of Methodist in Monroe County will be observed Sunday at Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Special dedicatory service honoring the new addition to the church building will be held at 11 a. m. Rev. Roger C. Stinson, pastor of the church, announced yesterday that Rev. Charles W. Phillips, of the Philadelphia Conference, director of Christian Education, will take part in the dedicatory service during which a tape across the doorway will be cut.

Also participating in the Sunday service will be J. Albert Groner, chairman of the improvement fund and William H. Clark, treasurer.

Groner will express appreciation to those who have assisted in completion of the building.

Rev. Phillips will speak on "Building for Education". Rev. Stinson's address will concern "Building for Fellowship".

Music for the occasion will be provided by the Senior Choir under direction of Albert J. Fregans. The choir will sing two anthems, "Grant Us Soon Thy Perfect Peace" and "Except the Lord Build the House, the Sanctuary Choir will sing 'Far Away In Old Judea'."

According to Rev. Stinson, the new parish house will be on view to the community from 3 to 5 p. m. when an open house for all friends of the church will be held.

Youth Fellowship hour will begin at 5:30 p. m. directly after the open house. No vesper service will be held this week, Rev. Stinson said.

The pastor of the church has chosen two lines from a hymn by John Wesley as the keynote for the dedicatory-anniversary services. "To serve the present age, my calling to fulfill," the lines, written in 1762—26 years before the first Methodist class meeting was formed in Stroudsburg—are to be used throughout the Sunday services.

During early beginning of local Methodism, Bristol circuit riders held meetings in Monroe County barns and homes. There were 32 members in the area in 1788, with one class in Stroudsburg.

First stationed pastor here was Rev. William Colbert, husband of Elizabeth Stroud, daughter of Jacob, the man after whom the borough was named. Colbert began his pastorate in 1826 after more than 20 years as a circuit rider.

The first Methodist church building was erected at a cost of $800 on N. Eighth St. Dedication was held in 1830.

Following incorporation of the church in 1853, the present tract of land was purchased. A $25,000 structure was erected on the site, completed in 1851.

By 1869, church quarters were again inadequate. Remodeling and enlargement of the building were carried out with completion in 1870.

Other additions were made during following years. In 1914, the "old" building was torn down and replaced by the present main building at a cost of $60,000.

In Sunday's services the Methodist congregation meets to consecrate the new parish house which includes quarters for its nursery and kindergarten departments; the center for church administrative work.

Lesson-Sermon Subject Listed

Subject of the lesson-sermon to be read in Christian Science churches Sunday will be "Adam and Fallen Man".

The Epistle Text is to be found in the Golden Text to the Romans (5:18): "As by the offense of one (Adam) came upon all men to condemnation; even so by the righteousness of one (the free gift came) upon all men unto justification of life."

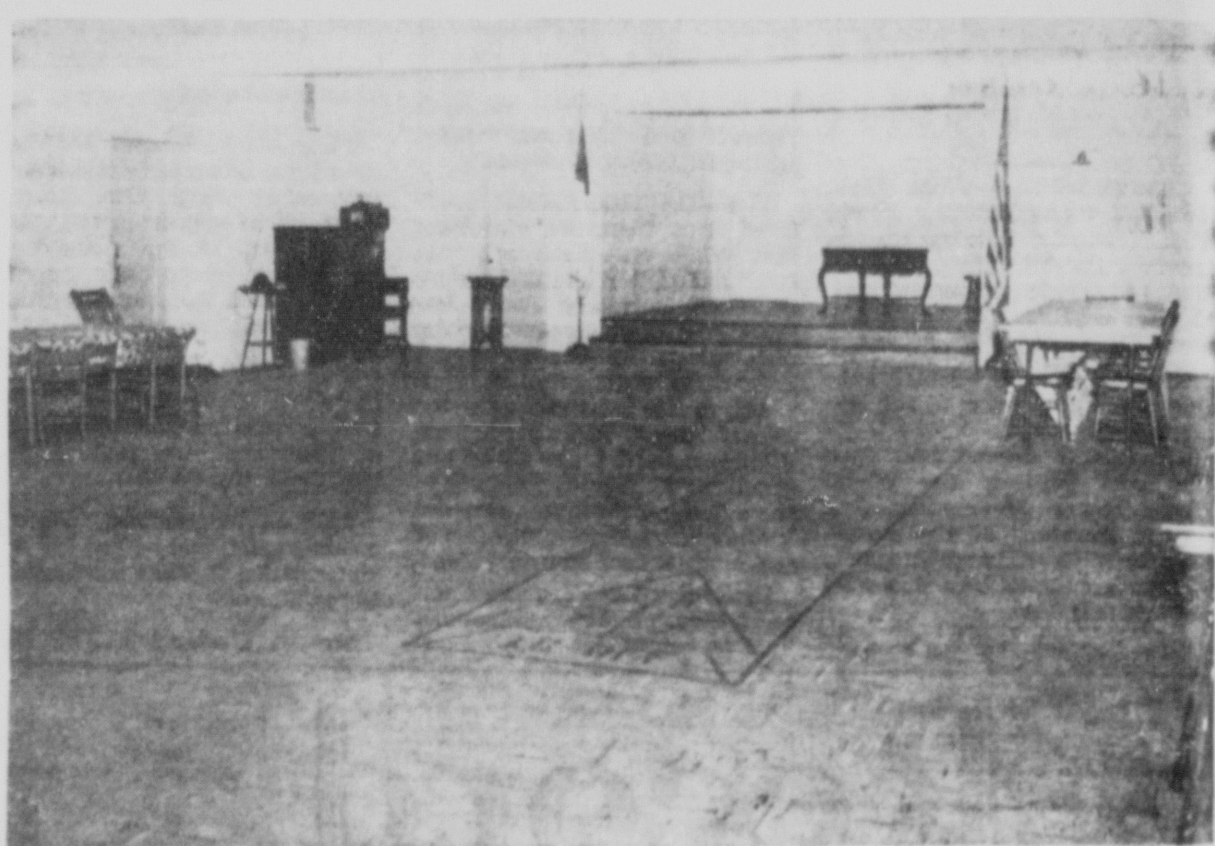

The Bible selections include St. John 9:31: "Now we know that God heareth not sinners; but if any man be a worshiper of God, and doeth his will, him he heareth." An explanatory passage from the textbook is this (476:32-4): "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviors saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick."

Adventists To Install New Pastor

William Richard Bornstein, of Wellsboro, Pa., has been appointed new pastor of the Stroudsburg Seventh-day Adventist church, it was announced here yesterday at Reading by officials of the East Pennsylvania Conference of Adventists.

The new local cleric, who moved here from Wellsboro this week, takes the place vacated by Russell R. Adams, who accepted the post as pastor of the York, Pa. Adventist church. Pastor Adams gave his farewell sermon here last Saturday and has moved to York.

Pastor Bornstein will be installed as pastor of the N. Second St. church at services today in the church.

Born in Paterson, N. J., Bornstein received his elementary and secondary training in area schools. He is a veteran of the Second World War, having served from September 1943 to March 1946.

Immediately after his return from the service he matriculated at the Emmanuel Missionary College, Berrien Springs, Mich., an Adventist institution, and took the course in theology. He graduated in the spring of 1949 with a Bachelor of Arts degree.

He began his ministerial career in Hanover, Pa., in June, 1949, serving as an associate pastor with John G. Mitchell, a veteran Eastern Pennsylvania Adventist clergyman. Later he went to Washington, D. C., where he received a master of arts degree in religion from the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in September, 1951. Since that time he has been pastor of the Toga district of Adventist churches, including charges at Wellsboro, Morris, Mansfield and Ellensburg.

Mrs. Bornstein, a native of Michigan, has a Bachelor of Arts degree from the Washington Missionary College, Washington, D. C. They were married in 1950. Pastor Bornstein's parents live in Canada where his father is director of textile operations at Consolidated Textiles, Ltd. Mrs. Bornstein's parents reside in Berrien Springs, Mich.

Only about five per cent of the 400,000 inhabitants of British Guiana are Europeans.

Open the Door!

The only tragedy in being young is that you must depend on the common sense and far-sightedness of adults. For when you're young, even though your heart cries out for opportunity, there are doors to which your parents hold the key.

One of these is the door to Faith. A child wants to believe. He needs religious teaching. God has implanted in his tiny body a growing, hungry soul.

But millions of America's little ones are being barred from the Church, starved of spiritual nourishment by unthinking parents. They are chained to unbelief, condemned to moral immaturity by fathers and mothers who have lost their own faith, and have ceased to care.

Do you know these parents? Are you, perchance, one of them? Remember Who it was who said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not." OPEN THE DOOR!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Preview of 1954?

Now that the tumult and the shouting has decreased in volume following Tuesday's excursions to the polls, it is well to look about us and inquire how much of the result can be truly labelled a preview of 1954.

In most key elections throughout the country, an emphatic Democratic vote was polled, and the returns won the admission of Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall that "as of today we are in trouble politically."

It is not strange that cities like Pittsburgh and New York and a state like Virginia should go Democratic. The Republicans have lost nothing there, for they had little. Those fights turned on local issues anyway.

But the failure of the voters to show more interest in Republican policy, following the GOP victory in last year's presidential elections, plus the loss of another congressional seat in New Jersey, indicates trouble in next year's congressional elections.

There was a danger signal for the Democrats, also—although it was a small one.

Philadelphia has been voting Democratic since 1947. They turned the city over to the Democrats two years ago, and sizable Democratic majorities were expected in balloting for local offices last Tuesday.

It didn't happen that way. As decidedly as the city went Democratic in recent elections, it went Republican Tuesday.

Why? One possible explanation is that the Democrats, who got into office charging there were 2000 "drones" on the payroll, were found to have 1500 more employees on the payroll than the Republicans. Taxes shot up sharply from $134 millions to $181 millions.

In this there is some kind of political moral. The voters will support a solid record of accomplishment. They will not support officials who are unable to make good on their promises or back up their charges. They want good government at the lowest possible cost, and they'll change their allegiance when they consider it necessary.

These returns, and their implications, are recommended reading for all public officials.

Cooperation Plus

One of the most effective means of determining the joint problems of the men who work in the mills and those who are executives of the same plants is a round-the-table discussion, and this sort of cooperation has never been better exemplified than in the forthcoming tour of United States Steel Corporation plants by Benjamin Fairless and David J. McDonald.

Fairless, head of the huge corporation responsible for so much of our nation's steel production and McDonald, president of the CIO United Steelworkers with a million-plus membership, are two strong men who can understand each other, who speak the same language.

Both have had first-hand experience in the huge mills of our country, and both have gone far in their chosen fields. That they will achieve a better understanding at plant levels between management and the union seems inevitable, for they will meet with local union officers and grievance committees at every city covered by their tour.

This is cooperation of a high order, and only men of the stature of Fairless and McDonald are capable of it. Perhaps the time will never arrive when those of the executive offices and those who work in the shops will see eye to eye on matters essential to both of them, but quite certainly such joint tours as planned to begin in a few weeks will be of mutual benefit.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

WHAT IT ALL MEANS

Election results all over the country are still being tabbed as indicating everything from a rush order for a New Deal re-orientation to a demand that Eisenhower be reduced to the ranks as a private. But in our book we saw little but a victory for the Wagner Act. Bingo in New Jersey and Yale in Connecticut. The victory of Bob Wagner, Jr., in New York is still being declared of great significance, but to us all it proves:

1. The name "Wagner" has the same pulling power as the copyrighted names of any liniment, soap powder, hair tonic, toothpaste or gasoline.

2. When you raise a subway fare you drive everybody to the polls to get even.

3. New York voters felt that all they will get anyhow will be more traffic tieups, louder cries of "Step lively!", a smaller class of beer, annual "revels of the host" and more Tommy Manville incidents.

Tammany Hall is exultant. The New York election brought back "East Side, West Side," Jimmy Walker's toastmaster routines, Fourteenth Street memories, the yen for a nickel fare, a general feeling that Bill O'Dwyer will not remain in Mexico all his life and a certainty that the noises of the Metropolis will be augmented by the rapping of Mike Quill's Blackthorn on the doors of City Hall. In New Jersey the haircut influence was a factor. A stylish "Bob" won there, too. He is Bob Meyer, a sort of boy wonder and a bachelor. He was one of the few candidates in America who could not drag a family into the TV programs. This may be why he won. Virginia stayed with the Democrats and away up in the "Yankee North" it can be said that, while Virginia's famous Lee never took Richmond, another Lee took New Haven. (Dick Lee's opponent in the New Haven election put up a good fight, but he needed General Grant.)

Lee was public relations man for Yale University. Dartmouth liked Yale, but Yale has now licked the GOP. Lee lost the election two years ago by only two votes. His victory this time was by 4,000 which proves that New England is firmly against the photo-finish, the tie ball game and the split decision. His opponent was a leading undertaker in office eight years. The defeat is not taken as a blow by morticians, but could be a hint of a public feeling that no undertaker should take eight years on one job. It is a question whether Lee goes to New Haven City Hall on a lend-lease from Yale University or whether the kid is abandoning "Boola Boola" and "March On Down the Field" for "Hail to the Chief" and "Oh Promise Me." The rumor that Calentano, the under-sher-mayor will go to Yale as public relations man is false and was started by a Harvard man. Looking back over the elections nationally, the Democratic victories may, perhaps, be attributed to the Party use of the prelude music to "Dragnet" in the campaigns.

At any rate, they have made a lot of Democrats happy for the first time in a year, given the Republicans a helpful jolt and driven Arthur Godfrey, Julius La Rosa and the McGuire Sisters off the front pages, or nearly so (P. S. No candidate, so far as we know, took any position in the Godfrey matter. But it was generally accepted by most voters that not a candidate for mayor or governor in the country was hostile to a sister act on TV.)

Wally Cox seemed lost on that last Berlin program, and Talullah seemed pretty mystified as to what it was all about, too. . . . The Coast Guard put on an all-day exhibition of rescue by helicopter on Election Day in New York as a feature of the 50th anniversary of the airplane. . . . It ignored the frantic signals from the Bob Wagner's opponents, however. Bob Wagner, Jr., went to T. S. School, Yale and the Harvard Business School. He may now establish himself at Princeton by his association with the Tiger song. . . . Didja hear about that football squad that was so easily punctured it had offers to go on a video program to be called "Where's My Line?" . . . "Secretary Dulles doubts that Russia or the Chinese Communists want any Korean Peace Conference"—News item. . . . This is known as slow motion in arriving at an obvious fact.

THE MARK OF THE BEAST

AEC Nuclear Power Plant Is Answer To Red A-Bomb

Washington — Here is why the Atomic Energy Commission believes its plan to build a full-scale nuclear power plant is "America's significant answer" to the Russian hydrogen bomb. It may seem strange that a terrible weapon of war can be "answered" by a peacetime generating station, but that is the case.

When the United States completes the power plant that AEC Commissioner Thomas E. Murray says can be built in three or four years, this country will be in a stronger position than ever before in its fight against Soviet imperialism — and it will force Russia into its weakest position.

For nuclear power will give a tremendous lift to the United States Four Point program of technical aid to underdeveloped areas. Without inexpensive power to generate electricity, the Point Four program lacks industrial appeal. A nuclear power plant would fill that lack.

The United States would then be able to do a far more effective job in its efforts to build up these underdeveloped areas — areas which will remain the easiest prey for Communism until their economies are strengthened.

Thus, with a peacetime atomic power plant, the United States will be able to keep vast areas of the world from falling into Red hands. However, there is another consideration. These areas produce uranium. Keeping that precious ore out of the Kremlin's grasping paw will not only build up our own atomic strength but will also cut down on Russia's.

Benson's dilemma — A number of farming experts concede privately that the administration will not be able to solve both the political and economic problems of the slumping agricultural economy.

However, they expect that a solution to one of the problems will be found soon.

Agricultural Secretary Ezra Taft Benson has promised to submit to Congress in January a detailed plan to help improve the farm situation.

If Benson finds a solution to the political and not the economic problem, or vice versa, the farmers won't be entirely satisfied and undoubtedly the slumping agricultural economy will be a major issue in next year's congressional elections.

On the other hand, Benson feels that new or expanded federal subsidies, which the farmers want, would only aggravate and intensify the economic problem, although subsidies may conceivably solve the political problem.

Some observers believe Benson is right in saying that bigger subsidies will only encourage production of surplus commodities which have priced themselves out of the world market and which cannot be absorbed in the domestic market.

Benson may come up with the answer to both problems, of course. However, the experts — in Washington — think that a solution of both would be nothing short of a miracle.

Cabinet drawbacks — Life for the only woman member of President Eisenhower's Cabinet is not entirely to her liking. Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, the secretary of health, education and welfare, pays for being in on top-level conferences with other big-wigs by missing out on the private life which is the joy of most women. For instance, she said recently that it is so long since she had dined at her own dining room table that she can't remember when.

Instead of meeting in the family circle at the close of a business day, she comes home late and dines off a tray. Her husband is in Texas most of the time where he is busy with his publishing interests, and her daughter, Jessica, and son, Bill, are away at school. So at times Mrs. Hobby gets real homesick.

Those who look at Mrs. Hobby's career with envy can well realize that the balance sheet is not entirely on the plus side for the secretary.

On the diplomatic front, observers say that President Eisenhower played a key role in stemming the tide of bitter criticism that broke out against India in this country shortly after the Indian representatives took over the task of handling Korean prisoners of war.

They note that just as the criticism was at its height, both in the United States and in South Korea, the President was visited at the White House by Madame Pandit, president of the United Nations General Assembly and sister of Indian Prime Minister Pandit Nehru.

Mr. Eisenhower used the occasion to issue a statement praising Indian troops highly for the way they were handling the POW repatriation problem. The statement has apparently marked a turning point — both in the anti-Communist attitude toward India and in the way India has handled the balky POWs.

Reliable sources say that Mr. Eisenhower has convinced the Indian government they should refuse to force anti-Red prisoners to attend explanation sessions with Communist persuasion teams and at the same time, has swung public opinion into a realization that the Indians are sincerely trying to fill a genuine neutral role.

"Dead gold mine" — The dead lead office is apparently the government's most flourishing gold mine. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield disclosed that in 1952, a total of $256,000 was found in the letters which for one reason or another couldn't be delivered.

The money, all of it in currency, reverberated to the United States Treasury. Summerfield reported that about 24 million pieces of mail out of about 50 billion pieces carried each year lands in the dead letter office.

Incidentally, that enormous volume of 50 billion pieces of mail is handled by 40,919 post offices in the United States and its possessions. There are also 32,536 rural routes covering 1,499,910 miles in the 48 states and the District of Columbia. These figures are as of July 1, 1952.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Supervisory Soil Conservation Officers Duplicative, Obsolescent In States

It is not to be expected that any effort to eliminate an unnecessary cost to the taxpayer will meet with no opposition. In private industry, reorganizations constantly take place to reduce costs or to increase efficiency, or both. The obsolescent is abolished as rapidly as possible. When such measures are taken in government, the outcry is immediate and articulate, because office-holders hate to lose their jobs and always find friends to fight for them. The Hoover Commission has run upon the facts that jobs, once established for a good purpose, continue after their usefulness has totally disappeared. Nevertheless appointments are made, salaries and expense allowances are drawn. These men actually have nothing to do but to get their pay.

In the matter of the reorganization of the Department of Agriculture, which had been permitted to grow into a behemoth, President Eisenhower sent Plan No. 2 to Congress, which was accepted by Congress and is now the law. The Department gave those who favored or opposed the reorganization plan until November 1 to state their views. This has been done and the plan has now been put into effect. The argument concerning it continues because there is nothing about which someone has not a better plan. That is human nature.

One of the phases of the reorganization plan of the Department has to do with the Soil Conservation Service, an activity of the States in which the Federal Government participates in an advisory capacity. For about 18 years, the Federal Government has maintained regional offices which provided a supervisory service and administration of State programs. The idea was that the Department of Agriculture could do the job better than State Soil Conservation Departments could.

Whether that was ever true is one of those arguments that can go on forever and prove nothing. That most States are now prepared to do their own jobs efficiently after 18 years of Federal tutelage is generally admitted. Therefore the time has come to abolish the regional offices of the Soil Conservation Service because their utility has now diminished to a point where they are no longer needed. Their abolition will save some money without impairing any service.

Actually, as of March 1, 1953, farmers and ranchers had organized 2,481 soil conservation districts of their own. There are also 20 grass conservation districts. In a word, the job of soil conservation is being done as a cooperative voluntary enterprise, within each State.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson takes the position that ours is not a totalitarian government and that what the people or the States can do for themselves, the Federal Government ought not to duplicate at great expense. He said this:

"The conservation and improvement of our land and water resources is primarily the responsibility of the farmer, the rancher, and the custodians of forest land. It is important that farmers band together in local soil conservation districts and watershed associations, and that they take the initiative in protecting and developing our agricultural resources. Agriculture can go forward confidently in such locally directed soil conservation districts."

The opposition to this reorganization plan seems to be based on the argument that a government bureau once established should never be abolished. This is not a novel idea, as the Hoover Commission has discovered, finding many agencies of government which exist to duplicate and triplicate work done by other agencies and by the States. There are about half a dozen hospital services in the Federal Government, for instance. These could be joined into one service to great advantage and saving.

If the objective of the reorganization of the executive branch of government is to eliminate the duplicative and the obsolescent, the supervisory offices of the Soil Conservation Service should be abolished and the State Conservationists should be permitted to do their work with due regard to the maturity which they have achieved since 1935 when all this started as a phase of flood control.

Herbert Hoover, in a telegram to Secretary Benson said: "Your plans of reorganization are along the lines of the recommendations of the task force of agriculturists. . . . They have been exhaustively debated since and favored by most of the substantial elements concerned. . . . If displaced officials are to counteract reorganization for economy and efficiency in the government, all of us may as well throw up our hands. . . ."

On Broadway

Gentlemen of the Press

During the days of daylight raids by the Luftwaffe—persistent reports that the Nazis would invade England sent war correspondents to Dover. . . . There was no invasion but the German planes came over every day to be met by the RAF. . . . Bob Casey (of a Chicago paper) found the top of the famed Shakespeare Cliffs (out there Dover) an excellent place for sunbathing. . . . Casey lay there daily watching the British Spitfires knock down the German bombers. . . . His newspaper kept yelling for feature stories. . . . The imitatable Casey's specialty.

He wrote one beauty. It told how the German bombers attacked and jetisoned their bombs which dropped into the water off Shakespeare Cliffs. . . . And that when they exploded harmlessly—hundreds of gulls (who made it their hunting ground) flew in fear. . . . Except, reported Casey, one smart gull. It never budged. It hovered in the air during the raids.

When the bombs burst and the other gulls had fled, this bird (after allowing the waters to settle) gently flew down to feast upon the many fish killed by the bombs. . . . Casey named this gull "Tillie". . . . He wrote exciting pieces about her. . . . The articles not only ran in his Chicago outlet but in The London Daily Telegraph. . . . Hundreds of people went to the Cliffs each day to look for Tillie. . . . Interest was so great all over Britain the opposition gazettes got miffed.

The Daily Mail editor fired his Dover man for miffing the human-interest story. . . . That "brave gull" represented all Britishers, he said. . . . When Casey learned that the reporter lost his job (over his scoop) he phoned newspaper friends in London and tried to make excuses for the discharged scribe.

"But dammit, Bob," one editor protested, "everyone in England is talking about your story and that wonderful gull. It wouldn't be so embarrassing but it appeared exclusively in The Telegraph!" . . . "The story was not only exclusive," Casey said sadly, "it was phony!" . . . The Daily Mail rehired the reporter. . . . But it wasn't phony. It was Casey's way of saving the fellow's job.

Editor & Publisher revealed that a newspaper actually ran the following for one edition. A story about an unwed mother was handed to a copywriter, who had just gotten over a binge. He put this head on it: "Another City Editor Born!"

When we were a cub, a Scripps-Howard columnist's copy failed to appear on time. . . . A frantic editor finally got the very sleepy bookie-player on the phone. "A messenger," he barked, "will be at your place in exactly three minutes!" . . . Then he hung up.

The columnist stumbled out of bed, groped around his desk, picked up a copy of The N. Y. American, clipped out Brisbane's essay, copied it word for word, and prefaced it with one line: "Just what does Mr. Brisbane mean by this? . . ."

It was the word of the town.

Artemus Ward, one of the slickest wits of the newspaper craft, was assigned to cover an important social function. . . . Before he got there he paused at a bar to hoist a few and forgot the assignment. . . . When he sobered up, he drew upon his imagination and wrote a glowing account of the affair. . . . It was published on Page One and turned out to be a dubious scoop. . . . No other paper carried it because the event was postponed at the last moment. . . . When Ward learned of his blunder he left town. . . . He returned several weeks later. . . . His editor demanded to know why he vanished.

"I couldn't," he indignantly straight-faced, "afford to be associated with such an unreliable paper!"

Then there was H. Allen Smith, another witty member of the profession, who had more fun playing than playing the type-writer. . . . Leaving a cocktail party one sundown, Smith stumbled and denied the sidewalk. . . . He wired his editor: "Sorry, but I broke a leg." . . . To which the boss replied: "How in the world did you ever get your foot in a highball glass?"

Official Vote Returns Show No Major Changes In Results

One Write-In Gives Office To Woman

Monroe County commissioners completed their official canvass of voting returns in last Tuesday's election at 4:45 p. m. yesterday.

The official count revealed no changes in unofficial results of the election previously announced.

Check of the returns was conducted in commissioners' office with all three officials—Amzi Altman, Granville Shiffer and W. Adolph Lake—participating.

Official check revealed that one write-in vote elected a Stroud Township resident to the post of the township auditor.

Named to the position by the lone write-in was W. A. Rogalski.

On the ballot, however, the name appears as "W. A. Rogalski." After discussion commissioners decided the solitary voter had intended to cast his ballot for Rogalski.

Mrs. Willita A. Rogalski is listed as a Stroud resident.

No upsets over previous totals was forthcoming from the official count.

Some additional write-ins were noted in outlying districts. None of these votes played a decisive role in the election, however.

Computation of the official figures to arrive at final totals will be made on Monday by commissioners.

Kelly Jailed Eighth Time

Few "bad actors" play return engagements, but William Kelly may be the exception that proves the rule.

Kelly has been brought back for eight "command performances" so far this year—all of them in Monroe County jail.

Seven of the previous charges preferred against the former Milford resident were for "minor offenses such as drunkenness and disorderliness."

Yesterday Kelly entered the prison for the eighth time in 1953. The charge was more serious this time.

Kelly had been picked up by East Stroudsburg borough police on a charge of "breaking, entering and burglary."

According to borough Policeman Edward Harlow, Kelly was found inside a house trailer at 188 Lenox Ave. in the borough at about 9:45 p. m. Thursday.

Kelly was committed to county jail last night to await a hearing before Justice of peace Marshall Neyhart today.

in precipitation, conscious that a change in temperature might put a solid glare of ice on roads in the area.

At 11 p. m. the moisture changed again to snow.

Yesterday's storm was not considered an "early" one by veteran observers in this area. Last year's earliest snowfall was listed at 6 a. m. on Oct. 20.

The snowstorm caught a good many Monroe County motorists in their short summer "unawares" without their chains down.

Early night forecasts indicated more of the same for this morning in Eastern Pennsylvania.

According to the weatherman the snowfall should end in this area sometime this forenoon, followed by "clearing" this afternoon. Low temperatures between 25 and 30 were forecast for early today.

Red Cross To Start New Classes For Nurses' Aides

The Monroe County Chapter of the American Red Cross beat the storm last night by meeting at 3:45 with Arlington W. Williams, chapter chairman, presiding.

During the past month, Mrs. LeRoy Kochler reported, 68 volunteers had given 708 hours of service for the hospital, blood bank, and motor corps. She also announced that another class in nurses' aids would be started soon.

Mrs. Ida M. Kunkle gave the home service report which showed that 14 cases, ten of them active service cases, had been cared for during the month. In three cases financial assistance was given. There were 46 office interviews; 19 home visits, five meal tickets given out and there were two motor corps trips to Philadelphia.

Mrs. Eugene Martin announced that the home nursing committee had met, that sub-committees were now at work and that a class in home nursing will be held before the first of the year.

LeRoy Mikels, blood donor chairman, reported a deficit of 46 pints in the county quota to date. The next visit of the bloodmobile will be on Nov. 24 at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church when a goal of 171 pints would bring the county up to quota. Hours of the visit will be from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Colleges Granted Permission To Change Names

Harrisburg, (AP) — The Pennsylvania State College and Villanova College yesterday received approval of the State Council of Education to change their titles to university.

The action of the council constitutes the next-to-last step in the two institutions becoming universities.

Both colleges now must await action in local courts in which their original charters were filed.

The state-owned college would be known as Pennsylvania State University and the suburban Philadelphia college would bear the title of Villanova University.

James Milholland, president of the Penn State College board, said "The college has reached a stage in its development where the change of name would better reflect the work of the institution."

Fire Damages Edinger Home At Appenzell

Appenzell — Fire believed started by a short in the electrical wiring system charred the interior of the John Edinger home near here yesterday, causing an estimated $1500 in damages.

Fire Chief Edward Metzgar, Pocono Township Volunteer Fire Co., estimated the loss and said he believed the wire dropped from an expansion attic into a bedroom on the west side of the single-story frame dwelling, starting the blaze.

Edinger, his wife and three children were not at home when the fire was spotted at 10:30 a. m. by a neighbor, James Frable.

Firemen entered the home by breaking a window and carried most of the furniture from the burning structure. They retired at 12:15 p. m. leaving one man to guard against any further outbreak. The home is located on the road between here and Brodheadsville.

'Slow - Down' Drive Meets With Success

Increased convictions for speeding were cited as the key to improving the traffic accident record in the formal report on the successful 11-state summer "slow down and live" program submitted to the 18th annual Northeastern Conference on Highway Safety and Motor Vehicle Problems at Wilmington, Del.

Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe, representing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the conference, along with Major E. J. Henry, State Police, is chairman of the division on traffic regulations and control.

The conference, which ended yesterday, attracted leading traffic authorities in the East including police and traffic commissioners, traffic engineers, highway engineers and commissioners, and members of the Commission on Interstate Cooperation.

Sen. Crowe is Pennsylvania's member of the Commission on Interstate Cooperation.

The anti-speeding drive conducted this year will be repeated by the 11 northeastern states in 1954. Senator Crowe said, because the experimental highway slow-down was "a definite success."

Next year, however, six months, instead of three months, will be devoted to planning the "slow down" campaign, Sen. Crowe said.

Parcels For GIs Overseas Must Be Mailed By Nov. 15

Christmas parcels for members of the Armed Forces serving outside the continental United States must be mailed before Nov. 15, postmasters in the county advised yesterday.

Regulations covering mailing require that boxes be of strong construction because of the handling and storage the parcels undergo in transit.

Each box should be secured with strong cord and senders are warned against mailing articles which are prohibited, such as matches or anything that is either inflammable or explosive.

Tobacco products are forbidden for some armed forces destinations, and coffee may not be shipped to others. Local postoffice officials have complete information on these articles in the event senders are dubious.

Senders also are asked to make the address legible and warned that parcels containing foodstuffs

Have you seen the newly enlarged Stroudsburg Methodist Church

Desiring to provide better space for our Boy Scouts, Cubs, Girl Scouts and Brownies, we began to plan our new Parish House several years ago. We needed a new heating system, a more adequate Kindergarten room and also a Nursery. We discovered a great need for a church office and a pastor's study at the church. The study of these needs resulted in the plans which are represented by our beautiful Parish House. We appreciate deeply the fine workmanship and excellent materials provided by our contractors and their men. We open the Parish House to better serve our community.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Rain ruined one big gate and snow put an unsavory damper on another last night, as the long awaited grid battle between Slatington and Stroudsburg, at Gordon Giffels Field, was postponed 24 hours until today, at 8 p.m.—with the kind permission of the weatherman. This is the big game of the season as far as Stroudsburg's championship hopes are concerned and thus has created a lot of pre-game interest, as evidenced by last night's terrific flood of telephone calls received at The Daily Record, inquiring whether or not the game would be played as scheduled.

The amount of calls received on last night's scheduled game undoubtedly set a new high at the Record. I believe it safe to say that there isn't a person interested in football in this area who doesn't know exactly what this game means to the Mountaineers. This is the contest that must be won if the charges of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis are to remain in the title picture. This is the contest that must be listed in the victory column if the Mountaineers are to win their initial individual football title. T. Manning "Cap" Curtis led the Stroudsburg grid forces to a co-championship with Northampton back in 1939.

One of the hardest working guys in Monroe County yesterday afternoon was Mahlon Serfass, likeable faculty manager of athletics at Stroudsburg High. Serfass took part in a constant battle with the telephone for three hours in an effort to determine whether or not last night's game would be played on schedule. Finally, at approximately 5 p.m., the decision was made to postpone the contest until tonight. It took many, many telephone calls by Serfass before the job was completed.

Stroudsburg wanted to postpone the contest as early as 3 p.m. yesterday, but Slatington insisted on playing. But, as the day grew shorter the Slaters found that it was virtually impossible for them to make the trip and agreed to the postponement of 24 hours. There is little doubt that Slatington is looking forward to this contest with Stroudsburg, so much so that the Slaters are ready to play in almost any kind of weather or under any kind of conditions. There is little doubt that this is the biggest contest of the season for the Mountaineers, who must win to keep their title hopes alive.

It is quite possible that Jack Finelli, hard running Bangor High back who suffered a broken ankle in last Friday's football game with Nazareth, will be a patient at Eastern Hospital for another week. Jack had the damaged left ankle reset on Thursday morning. Finelli has been the target of several colleges in the area this season. Last year Bangor lost another back with a broken leg, namely Rodney Miller, and he also made a big difference in the Maroon and White attack.

There may be more life in the Bangor camp for today's game than one would expect of a team that had just lost a player of Finelli's character. The Slaters may be playing this one for Jack. Mike Renaldo, former baseball and football star at Fordham University and first baseman for the Roseto entry in the Blue Mountain Baseball League, is currently Pvt. Renaldo of the U. S. Army, stationed at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md. Mike, who is also a Bangor High athletic star of the past, is currently coaching a company touch football team.

For those interested it might be good at this time to point out that Dick Merring holds the scoring record for football at East Stroudsburg High school with 13 touchdowns and 78 points. Bernie Fish now has eight touchdowns and 48 points, with two games remaining on the present Eastburg schedule. As far as I have been able to find out Bill Bailey holds the football scoring mark at Stroudsburg High with 62 points, on 10 touchdowns and two extra points. This mark was made last season. Karl Weingartner at the present time has tallied seven touchdowns and nine points after touchdowns for 51 points, with three contests remaining to be played. Bailey reportedly has scored three six-pointers for St. Paul's College this season.

East Stroudsburg High has been showing a tremendous amount of spirit in workouts this week, even though the Cavaliers aren't scheduled to take part in the football wars this weekend. Nazareth is the next stop a week from today. The Eastburg coaching staff is hopeful that Harold White, Bob Kupiszewski and Nick Patella, all currently on the injured list, will be ready for action against Nazareth. Bernie Guest, recently named to head the Philadelphia A's farm system, is the same scout who signed Ray Steele, former basketball and baseball star at East Stroudsburg High school. Joe Konzakowski, former line-man for the ESSTC football team, was recently named basketball coach at St. Gabriel High school, Hazleton. Joe is also a former supervisor of education in the Glenn Falls, N. Y., public schools, where he also coached football, basketball and baseball.

Snow Postpones Stroudsburg-Slatington Grid Tilt

Major Tussle To Take Place Tonight

Snow and the weatherman combined last night to deal both Stroudsburg and Slatington High schools a football defeat, as snow forced postponement of the important grid battle 24 hours. The contest will be played tonight at Gordon Giffels Field. The kickoff is scheduled to take place at 8 p.m.

Mahlon Serfass, faculty athletic manager at Stroudsburg High, announced yesterday at 5 p.m. that

Weingartner	LT	Lukasevich	RT
Miller	LT	Foltweiler	RT
Marabel	LT	Cerrone	RT
Garaventi	LT	Schreiber	RT

the contest had definitely been postponed until tonight.

Negotiations between Stroudsburg and Slatington High schools took part for most of the afternoon until an agreement was reached three hours before kickoff time.

It was the second time this season that "Mother's Night" had to be postponed at Giffels Field and this is the third straight year that inclement weather has ruined a planned program for mothers of the various football players.

If the weatherman decides to allow the game to be played tonight, it is expected to attract a capacity crowd to the W. Main St. field. Giffels Field was covered by at least two inches of snow at game-time last night.

Coach Jerry Stulgaitis is expected to stick with the same lineup that he had posted for last night's game. The postponement gave Don Deidler another day to rest his ailing back and the rest might be enough to return the defensive left halfback to a starting position if Slatington should receive the kickoff.

Slatington, under the guidance of Coach Roy Schleicher, is also expected to open with the same array of talent that was listed yesterday for the long awaited ball game.

Stroudsburg needs a victory tonight to maintain its undefeated record of six wins and a tie and to stay deadlocked for first place with Northampton, who steps out of league action today to battle Bangor.

Two ticket booths will be open at Giffels Field to handle the expected large crowd tonight and tickets may be purchased in advance at DeVivo's Shoe Repair Shop.

Warriorettes To Attend Practice

Girls from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College chosen for any of the various All-College Field Hockey teams at last Saturday's tournament at Ursinus College, will attend a practice session at the Drexel Field today, at 40th St. and Haverford Ave., Philadelphia. The drill starts at 2 p.m.

Players: The ESSTC group includes Doris Zerby, Virginia Eisenberg, Patricia Zimmerman, Beatrice McLaughlin, Grace Asberry, Margorie Morrell and Coach Katherine Griffith.

Scholastic Grid Scores

Wilkes-Barre 27, Luzerne 6; Nanticoke 7, Kingston 6; West Pittston 26, Fort 13; Mt. Carmel at Hazleton (postponed); Pottsville at Tanawana (postponed); Shamokin at Coal Twp. (postponed); Taylor at Jessup (postponed); Towanda at Tunkhannock (postponed).

Shoemaker Wins Three More

San Mateo, Calif. (AP) — Willie Shoemaker rode three consecutive winners at Bay Meadows yesterday to extend his world record of season wins to 425 as a Canadian-owned horse won the feature race for the second straight afternoon.

"Wee Willie", who has been pushing his mark up a notch on so almost every day since he passed Tony DeSpirito's 1952 mark of 390 just three weeks ago, won the fourth, fifth and sixth races yesterday aboard Rano, Salute Me and Tar Flat respectively.

Surprise: Most surprising were the good prices of $9.20, $9.50 and $9.70, paid in order by mounts whose jockey usually commands the favorite's role. Record Time, owned by R. S. McDonald of Vancouver, B. C., made mockery of the other six horses in the six-furlong Kentucky Tavern Purse.

Crowe's Club In Action

Crowe's Insurance, currently tied for first place in the Delaware Valley Bowling League with Norton Oil, rolls against Capuro's Cities Service today, at 8 p.m., on the Fleas Club alleys, in Easton.

Warriors Invade Lock Haven For Final Soccer Encounter

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will bring its 1953 soccer season to a close today when the Warriors tangle with Lock Haven, on the Bald Eagles' home field. Action is scheduled to get underway at 2 p.m.

Thirty Girls Report For Basketball

Bangor: Thirty candidates have reported for the girls basketball team at Bangor High school and practice sessions opened this past week under the guidance of Mrs. Hazel Branch, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, who is launching her second campaign as coach at Bangor.

The Slaters returned to basketball for girls last season after an absence of 15 years. The girls played an eight-game schedule, but failed to win a single contest.

But, with the addition of several promising sophomores and freshmen Bangor has high hopes for the future. Only three players were lost from last year's team by graduation.

Another eight-game schedule is contemplated, but the dates aren't ready for release at the present time.

Candidates

Included on the list of candidates are Marcia Heard, Elaine Knoble, Anna Mae Menhennit and Lorraine Renaldo, all seniors and all back from last year's squad. Juniors out for the team, and also all back from last season, are Audrey Brumback, Mary Jane DeCesare, Dorothy Eisenhart, Gloria Heard, Editha Hill, Sandra Jones, Connie Mazza and Phyllis McGrath.

Lou Ann Chamberlin, Anita Dvleski, Connie Evans, Diane Fetherman, Janet Hancock, Marybelle Lee, Lorraine Parsons, Martha Pollicelli, Sonia Rasely and Louise Rader are newcomers from the sophomore class. Freshmen battling for a position on the team are Maureen Avery, Carol Busenger, Susan Godshalk, Lorraine Heinsohn, Kay Hughes, Patricia Latteman, Eleanor Miller and Louise Peters.

Villanova Director Seeks New Circuit

By Ralph Bernstein
Philadelphia (AP) — "Bud" Dudley, enterprising athletic director at Villanova College, disclosed yesterday he is knee deep in an attempt to organize a new football conference, the "Northeastern Conference."

Dudley, who introduced half time fashion shows and selling tickets with grocery purchases, described his effort to organize a new conference as "the salvation of independent football colleges."

The Villanova official would tie up such colleges and universities as Boston College, Fordham, Holy Cross, Villanova, Syracuse, Colgate, Rutgers, Temple, Penn State, pressed the opinion that all these institutions had mutual football problems that could be ironed out with the formation of a new conference.

Double Interest

"I believe that the formation of a conference including these schools would double the interest in football at the colleges, double the publicity on their games, eliminate schedule-making difficulties, cut down overhead expenses and create standard rules and eligibility codes," said Dudley.

"Why I think we're almost forced to organize, what with all the post-season bowl games being tied up by various conferences," he said. "Only the Sugar Bowl and half of the Cotton Bowl are open to eastern teams at the moment. And believe me, a bid to a major bowl takes any college football financial program off the hook."

Such a conference, he went on, would eliminate one of the biggest headaches an independent college athletic director must face—schedule-making.

Dudley said that John Curley, athletic director at Boston College; John Coffey, head athletic man at Fordham and "Bud" Donnell, Boston U. coach had expressed definite interest in the proposed conference.

"We may have some trouble with a few of the schools I have named because I know several of them still have faint hopes of cracking the Ivy League. I doubt very much if they can do it. Anyway, after the season is over I plan to call a preliminary meeting in New York to talk over the conference idea. I'm hoping something can be worked out."

Pros Fight For Top Position

New York (AP) — The three-way battle for first place in the Western Division of the National Football League gets hotter than ever this weekend. In the eastern half of the league Cleveland's unbeaten Browns are expected to continue their runaway at Pittsburgh's expense.

In the bunched western group the Los Angeles Rams are first with a 5-1 followed by Detroit's defending champion Lions and the San Francisco 49ers with a 4-2 each, and then the Baltimore Colts, 3-3. The four have it out among themselves tonight and tomorrow.

Second Meeting

The Lions meet the Colts in Detroit tonight in the second meeting of these two teams. Detroit had to go all out to whip the Colts 27-17 in Baltimore.

The big game of the weekend sends San Francisco against the Rams at Los Angeles Sunday afternoon. The 49ers pinned the Rams with their only defeat, 31-30, and another San Francisco win plus a Detroit victory could find all three locked in a tie at 5-2 Sunday night.

Doubt Hangs Over Scheduled Football Game Between ESSTC, Cortland On Normal Hill

Coach Gene Martin stated at a late hour last night that he doubted very much if today's scheduled football game between East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and Cortland Teachers would take place on the Normal Hill Field. If the game is played the kickoff will take place at 2 p.m.

Martin pointed out that the Normal Hill field would need a lot of work done on it this morning to get it anywhere near proper playing condition. He doubted that it would be advisable to clean off all the snow and line it up under present conditions.

But, if the snow should melt or blow off the field and the weather conditions aren't too bad today, the game probably will be played.

The Cortland grid machine was scheduled to spend the night at the Indian Queen Hotel last night, but hadn't arrived at a late hour because of extremely difficult driving conditions.

If the contest does take place ESSTC will place a record of three victories and the same number of defeats on the line, while Cortland will feature a contest that has lost only two times this season and turned in several powerful victory demonstrations.

Martin announced last night he would go along with the same lineup that inflicted most of the damage on Ithaca College last week.

Clyde "Specs" Sweigert and John Andrews, two ESSTC line-men, will miss the final game of the season because of injuries.

Bob Tyson, Art Schaefer, Tom Smith, Joe Tichi, Frank Kennedy, George Colonius, Steevers, Brown, Murray and Morris, all seniors, will be playing their last game of football for ESSTC today, with the weatherman's permission.

Young Stops Giuliani In Second Round

By Jack Hand

New York, (AP) — Paddy Young, starting up the road toward a rematch with middleweight champion "Bobo" Olson, stopped Sammy Giuliani of Stamford, Conn., last night on a technical knockout in 2:54 of the second round at St. Nicholas Arena.

Young and Giuliani each weighed 161.

Long Rest

It was Young's first start since he lost to Olson June 19 in an elimination bout for the American 160 pound crown. He looked a bit rusty in the first round when Giuliani was the aggressor but poured it on after he was cut in the second.

After the first knockdown Giuliani was on his feet at two but had to take the automatic eight count. He dragged himself up at five after he hit the deck for the second time.

Games May Decide Bowl Bids

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.

New York (AP) — A decisive step toward clarifying this season's football bowl situation was taken Thursday by the Southern Conference special events committee. Several other steps likely will be taken today by various bowl-minded teams.

Four of the five major conference leaders which can qualify automatically for lucrative New Year's Day games by winning titles face the kind of opposition that could knock them clear out of contention. And for every one that might falter, there are a couple ready and willing to move in if they can whip equally strong rivals.

Recommendation

The Southern Conference move was a committee recommendation that the ban on post-season games should be lifted. A full conference meeting will be required to act on this proposal.

West Virginia's status as one of four major teams still undefeated and untied isn't likely to be impaired by Virginia Tech today. And the Mountaineers already have been listed as likely recipients of bids from the Sugar Bowl or Cotton Bowl if the conference grants permission.

The other unbeaten-untied giants are Notre Dame, the Nation's number one team and one which definitely isn't interested in bowl games, and Maryland and Baylor, which definitely are. Illinois, tied by undefeated and ranked fourth in this week's Associated Press poll, also is a bowl candidate.

Terry Joins Ranks

Vero Beach, Fla., (AP) — Reports circulated in this baseball town yesterday that Bill Terry, former New York Giants' manager now a Florida business man, is the latest hot prospect as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

International Race Postponed

Laurel, Md., G.P.—Laurel Race officials last night called off today's scheduled running of the track's dream race, the $65,000 Washington, D. C. International, because of a snowstorm which swept through Maryland yesterday.

John D. Shapiro, president of Laurel Park, said it would be decided this morning just when to run the turf classic which has drawn 10 horses from six countries.

Shapiro had said earlier that if it had to be postponed it would probably be run next Wednesday, Armistice Day.

The track announced that it was postponing the entire card for today because of snow conditions.

Miller Named To Open At Left Half For Bangor In Today's Football Battle At Northampton

Bangor—Duane Miller, jack-of-all-trades in Bangor High's football setup, yesterday was named by Coach Granville Evans to replace the injured Jack Finelli at left halfback for Northampton High today, on the latter's home field. The contest is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m.

Miller has held down the offensive left end post and the defensive left halfback position for most of the current campaign, but a broken left ankle suffered by Finelli against Nazareth last Friday forced a switch in the lineup.

Otherwise Bangor will enter the Northampton contest with virtually the same line that has carried the bulk of the load most of the way this season. This means that Art "Bucky" Parsons and Walt "Red" Heard will handle the end positions, while Ralph "Barney" Stenlake and Gerald Dally will hold down the tackle positions, with Nick Martocci and Nick Castellucci at the guard posts. Palmer Cotturo will operate at center.

DeVito and Cotturo will back up the line, while LaBar plays safety defense. Ray Heaney, 250-pound guard, will also replace Martocci when Northampton has the ball.

Bangor held lengthy scrimmage sessions on Wednesday and Thursday of this week and spent last night watching films of Northampton games and checking on offensive and defensive assignments.

Northampton will enter today's game with a mark of four wins, one tie and a loss. The defeat was at the hands of Phillipsburg and the deadlock was with Whitehall. Bangor's current mark is four victories and three setbacks. The defeats were inflicted by Wilson Borough, Stroudsburg and Nazareth, while the victories were scored over Palmerton, Catsaqua, East Stroudsburg and Coplay.

Home Visitation Scheduled Today

In harmony with the current drive to encourage religion in American life, Seventh-day Adventists of Stroudsburg will join with others across the country today in visiting the homes of the community.

Robert Christman, home missionary leader of the local church, in announcing his church participation in the drive, explained that families will be encouraged to take part in the annual Bible Reading Plan, sponsored by the American Bible Society. "This is the tenth anniversary of the world-wide Bible Reading Plan from Thanksgiving to Christmas," Mr. Christman said.

Mr. Christman added that when his members call at the homes they will be happy to learn of any hardship cases in the community. Names will be referred to the Adventist Dorcas Welfare Society for attention.

The weekly Sabbath School of the local church will begin at 9:30 a. m. today. The worship service is scheduled for 11 a. m.

By Newman Campbell

Today's lesson acquaints us with the spirit of the first Christian church in Jerusalem. After Pentecost, when the apostles and believers with them received the Holy Ghost, they went forth to preach repentance and acceptance of Jesus Christ to all who would listen to them. How full of zeal and joy must they have been after this wonderful experience.

Many of their listeners were "pricked in their heart," St. Luke tells us, and they begged the apostles to tell them what they should do. "Peter said unto them, Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost."

"Then they that gladly received his word were baptized; and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls."

"And they continued steadfastly in the apostle's doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers." Many wonders and signs were done by the apostles.

"And all that believed were together, and had all things common; and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need."

At this time there were no church traditions, naturally; no rules, no particular government. The believers lived a communal life, sharing all with one another. Those who had possessions, sold them and distributed them to those less fortunate.

We might call this a primitive church, but there was harmony and unity in it. The members ate and prayed together, and had one doctrine—that of the saving power of Christ.

And there was joy in the hearts of all who lived thus. They went to the temple, they broke bread from house to house, and "did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart, praising God, and having favor with all the people. And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved."

Down through the centuries even the Christian church has suffered so many arguments, disagreements, changes of creed, etc., that the harmony and unity of this first Christian church has become lost. Then there was a united zeal to spread the gospel, as St. Luke says: "And daily in the temple, and in every house, they ceased not to teach and preach Jesus Christ."

Without formal organization, without any set rules or settled authority, all were filled with enthusiastic desire to spread the gospel and save souls.

Later, especially as Paul spread the gospel to other lands in his missionary journeys, there grew up disputes, problems to be settled, but a helpful spirit prevailed—the different church members aiding those in Jerusalem who were in want.

From his prison cell in Rome St. Paul wrote to the church he had established in the great city of Philippi, urging this same unity among the members, and that their talk "be as becometh the gospel of Christ."

"That ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for one faith of the gospel; and in nothing terrified by your adversaries . . . for unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe in Him, but also to suffer for His sake."

To the younger classes it might be interesting to relate the story of Lydia, a business woman—a seller of purple cloth who was converted by Paul on his first missionary journey to Europe. She lived in a Greek city in Asia Minor, Thyatira, and became the first member of any church in the then western world.

In his first epistle, Peter too reminds the church members in scattered cities to be loyal and united in Christ and calling them, "a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, and holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye show forth the praises of Him who hath called you out of darkness into His marvelous light; which in time past were not a people, but are now the people of God; which had not obtained mercy, but now have obtained mercy."

In revelation, after the vision that St. John had of Christ, ascended and in glory, he heard seven communications about what are called The Seven Churches of Asia. Only two of these seven are standing today, and only two, were not criticized. — Smyrna and Philadelphia.

Philadelphia was weak but had remained united and true to Christ. Laodicea was the last of the seven mentioned and the Lord found no good in it. It had lost its enthusiasm and was spiritually indifferent—as many of today's churches seem to be today.

Let us pray that we may do our best to maintain love and unity in our homes, with our associates and, in our churches. Let us keep our enthusiasm and our togetherness intact.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

If ever I go into the nightmare creating business, I have my pattern all set. It's a snowstorm of a Friday afternoon that reaches the slippery stage at 5 p. m. when the weekend travelers, the home-bound industrial plant workers, the Friday afternoon shoppers all start home at the same moment.

And all end up in a traffic jam as snarled as a ball of wool after the kitten's finished with it. There was nothing kittenish about that storm, though. More like a playful tiger.

Wherever you were probably seemed like the most hectic spot of all. I cast my vote for the merry-go-round of Crystal, Washington and South Courtland, where nobody was going anywhere except crazy.

With knees like water from narrow escapes, with heart thudding painfully at the last disconcerting surge up the driveway, we got home with car, children, groceries intact.

Which is why it seems inconceivable that anyone should be disappointed that the game had been postponed, that the band wouldn't march. But under 20 you're indestructible, I guess, and undaunted by the weather that has their elders covering in a corner.

Are you giving your mattress proper care? They should be aired daily, turned and vacuumed or brushed once a week. If there are any soiled spots, you might try sponging them with a little soapy water, then sponging again with clear water; dry quickly with an electric fan.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

"Did you ever stop to consider that someday the automobile will be obsolete." Bill Fisher asked when I stopped at the doorway of his office.

"Not really," I said. "Do you mean that we Americans will begin using our legs for WALKING—or are we planning to invest in helicopters?"

Bill explained that it's nothing like that. We're going to see the world from conveyor belts. What's more, Cincinnati is already installing such a conveyance, with other large cities likely to follow. A decade from now it's highly probable that travelers will be asking, "Now which belt takes me to Hempstead, and which to Gimbel's bargain basement?"

It's intriguing to think about, but right now I must hurry along with this column before snow drifts rise to the window sill. Conveyor belts may be terrific . . . but at the moment a sleigh would be more to the point.

There is no better time than now to express my gratitude to Mrs. Gustave Rother for the interest shown in our radio program of Thursday, Mrs. Rother, who is ill, heard the story of the Short Hills, N. J., women who are doing so much for afflicted people the world over through their Junior Service League project, New Eyes for the Needy. Contributions of eye glasses, empty frames, trinkets that can be sold for funds, and cash donations make it possible for these women to aid thousands all over the world who are either blind or verging upon blindness. Thank you, Mrs. Rother, for your friendly interest in others. It's kindness such as this that keeps a warm glow in the heart of an otherwise wintry world . . . Ann Putnam tells me she'll surprise us all one of these mornings with a big display of champagne. Vintage, at that. This being Wyckoff's, you've probably guessed that it isn't the real McCoy—just something heady and new in perfume wizardry, packaged in the traditional manner; a light hearted way of adding bubbling good will to your Christmas spirits . . . If there's an added wisp of white in my hair today, I can't blame it on snowflakes. Just between us, time isn't turning backward. That realization came the hard way a few hours ago when a coat purchase for my Little Lady was under consideration. "We can't fit her in the children's department," Rachel Arnold said. "She'll get her coats in the girls' department hereafter." And just yesterday I was calling her "the baby."

Christmas buying is already under way, according to our salespeople, and everyone is happy about it. In the long run, early shopping makes the Season of Good Cheer easier for everyone and his purse strings. The only complaints I have is that everything is so beautiful, I want to buy duplicates for myself . . . This is the weather that puts me in the mood for hot cider, toasted cheese sandwiches and homemade vegetable soup, electric blankets, holly wreaths and mistletoe, trees lighted in silver and blue, a blazing hearth and a good book. This is the weather that puts me in the frame of mind for an investment in silver-dyed muskrat, broadtail, Persian lamb and mink. The Wells-Treister furriers couldn't have come at a better time, it seems to me. They'll remain in the store today, giving all loving husbands ample opportunity to select those very special gifts for under the tree. What woman wouldn't love to be a merry "minks" on Christmas? . . . There go the chimneys, but since that's my spring coat on the rack, I'm not quite as anxious as I'd believed to leave the office. No car, no boots, no hat—and no conveyor belt. Which brings up the question: What would the fare be on a belt? A buckle?
